

Guidelines for Returning Seeds

Dry: Make sure seeds are dry.

Clean: Have seeds reasonably cleaned by removing as much of the chaff as possible.

Properly saved: Only return seeds from plants that you know how to save properly.

Label! Label! Label! Write as much information on the packet as possible. Remember that people only have what you have written on the package to decide if it is a plant that they would like to grow. More info is better.

Share the abundance: If you have lots of seeds, considering making multiple packets of the same seeds.

This information is from the Richmond Grows Seed Library

<http://www.richmondgrowsseeds.org/seed-protocol.html>

Guidelines for Returning Seeds

Dry: Make sure seeds are dry.

Clean: Have seeds reasonably cleaned by removing as much of the chaff as possible.

Properly saved: Only return seeds from plants that you know how to save properly.

Label! Label! Label! Write as much information on the packet as possible. Remember that people only have what you have written on the package to decide if it is a plant that they would like to grow. More info is better.

Share the abundance: If you have lots of seeds, considering making multiple packets of the same seeds.

This information is from the Richmond Grows Seed Library

<http://www.richmondgrowsseeds.org/seed-protocol.html>